Department Service Office Shows Dedication, Resilience, and Commitment

The Department Service Office (DSO) continues to stand as a trusted source of support, guidance, and advocacy for the veterans it serves. Through changing needs and difficult circumstances, the office has remained focused on its mission: helping individuals and families navigate important services with care, respect, and determination.

Day after day, DSO demonstrate dedication by listening closely, responding promptly, and working through challenges with professionalism. Their resilience is reflected in the way they adapt to new requirements, manage complex cases, and continue serving even when demand is high.

Training remains a vital part of the DSO's ability to serve effectively. In July, the Bergman & Moore (B&M) monthly training focused on causation, including VA Internal Guidance and recent Court decisions. This type of continuing education helps ensure that the DSO stay current, strengthen their understanding of complex issues, and provide accurate, informed assistance to the veterans and families who rely on them.

More than an office, the DSO represents an unwavering commitment to service. Its work reminds the community that behind every request is a person seeking answers, support, or peace of mind—and the DSO remains committed to meeting that need with compassion and purpose.
